hinda,
I sure I enjoyed you and me, and Alice getting in some your classes together! You are a very nice person to know and anyone that knows you, it should be a joy to them. I sure hope that you get to come see me this summer and some of them a little bit. (and you know what I mean) I don't think I would like you as good if you would change your ways even though you need to change
I sure hope that you have the best in the world and may God bless you. I hope that anything you want will come true and I am sure that it will.
We haven't done anything that we can remember but may be by the time the summer draws to an end, we will have a lot to talk about. I hope that you will come this summer. I guess we will have to write and ~~write~~ <sup>stay</sup> as sweet as you are now and you will succeed in all you do!
Good Luck in the future!

Love forever
Myra

P.S. Don't cry to hard
when I leave!
O.K? I know that you can't help it. (Ha)

Hi Doll,
 Well, I'm not too pretty good at speaking but I'm here to say you're a swell girl (woman) and you deserve all the luck there is.
 You're a rice, pretty girl. The best with what Vicki Santos says! She's just jealous because she is a thing I've known you for about 5 or 6 years, and analyze more, and I know you're a real friend, and one who can be trusted. (So don't tell anybody, what I told you about me. No joke!!) Well, to charge the simply "murder" me. No joke!! Special someone, and subject I hope you'll be as happy as I am! Then we'll dance +
 I hope together, O.K.? No-K!
 Well, I've rebbed my motor long enough, and I'm running out of gas, so I'll putter off.
 Good luck in everything you ever do, and Don't worry about D.P.!! (Our mop looks better than her!!!!)

Love Always,
 Linda

Linda,
it's been fun knowing you all this year. We have gotten to be good friends and I hope we'll always stay with you. It's been fun being with all of Janie, Linda and you of course. Linda (last name) them are nuts anyway. Mamma's are all you know who I mean) one thing it's the same. If it isn't one thing it's

With the aid of Miss Bost and several college catalogues, Brenda Efird considers the different phases of college life as she begins to think of her future.

FOREWORD

Within the stanzas of the Concord High Hymn, you, the students of CHS, can visualize the numerous phases of activity surrounding Concord High School.

We, the '63 annual staff, have chosen the Hymn as the theme for our 1963 SPIDER WEB and portrayed it through characteristic photographs of your daily life about Concord High.

The staff has attempted to represent each section and page of the SPIDER WEB so that, as you turn through your '63 yearbook, you will recall and associate each event in '63 with a lasting memory for years to come.

Students gather in front of CHS for a one o'clock skit by the Key Club in preparation for "Sadie Hawkins Day."

Of thee, Concord High, this praise we sing;

Under the honor system, students in Miss Tucker's world history class ponder over an essay test.

The Forensic book store provides Betty Jo Brantley and Jennilee Blackwelder with required literature.

With virtues you are blessed . . . your ideals

As the Spiders come on the field, the band plays Concord High's fight song to excite spirit before the kick-off.

In the teacher's lounge faculty members exchange humorous classroom experiences as they take time for a quick cup of coffee.

From the first day of the '63 year through final exams, class day, and graduation, you were a part of Concord High.
You cheered the Spiders to victory on the field and on the court;
you marched for North Carolina and CHS
at the Orange Bowl;
you crammed for mid-term exams;
you starred in the class' one-act play;
you pondered over college bulletins, applications and college boards;
you held your breath during Class Day's "Kneel juniors;
rise seniors;"
you worked together as a class and Concord High molded you into its student body.

Choosing the class mascots is a solemn moment for the seniors. All eyes are on Mr. Blackwelder as he explains the voting procedure during a class meeting.

Even a simple circle can become confusing in geometry. Mrs. Alston illustrates an exercise on the board for her fourth period geometry students.

For the second consecutive year the Victory Bell rolls proudly down North Union, escorted by the cheerleaders and Spiders, in the Christmas parade.

Through all our days . . . you give to us your best

Each student has a goal for which he strives to achieve while at CHS.
 With this goal comes a prayer . . .
 for the Victory Bell . . .
 to make senior band . . .
 to exempt the finals . . .
 to be tapped into NHS . . .
 to be accepted into the Key Club . . .
 to be a Thespian . . .
 to make All-Conference, All-State . . .
 Not all can reach their goal;
 but at CHS you learn to work together
 and to share in the reward with your classmates.

Key Club members and Mr. Goodman add a little Yuletide spirit to the main hall of CHS as they gaily decorate the annual Christmas tree.

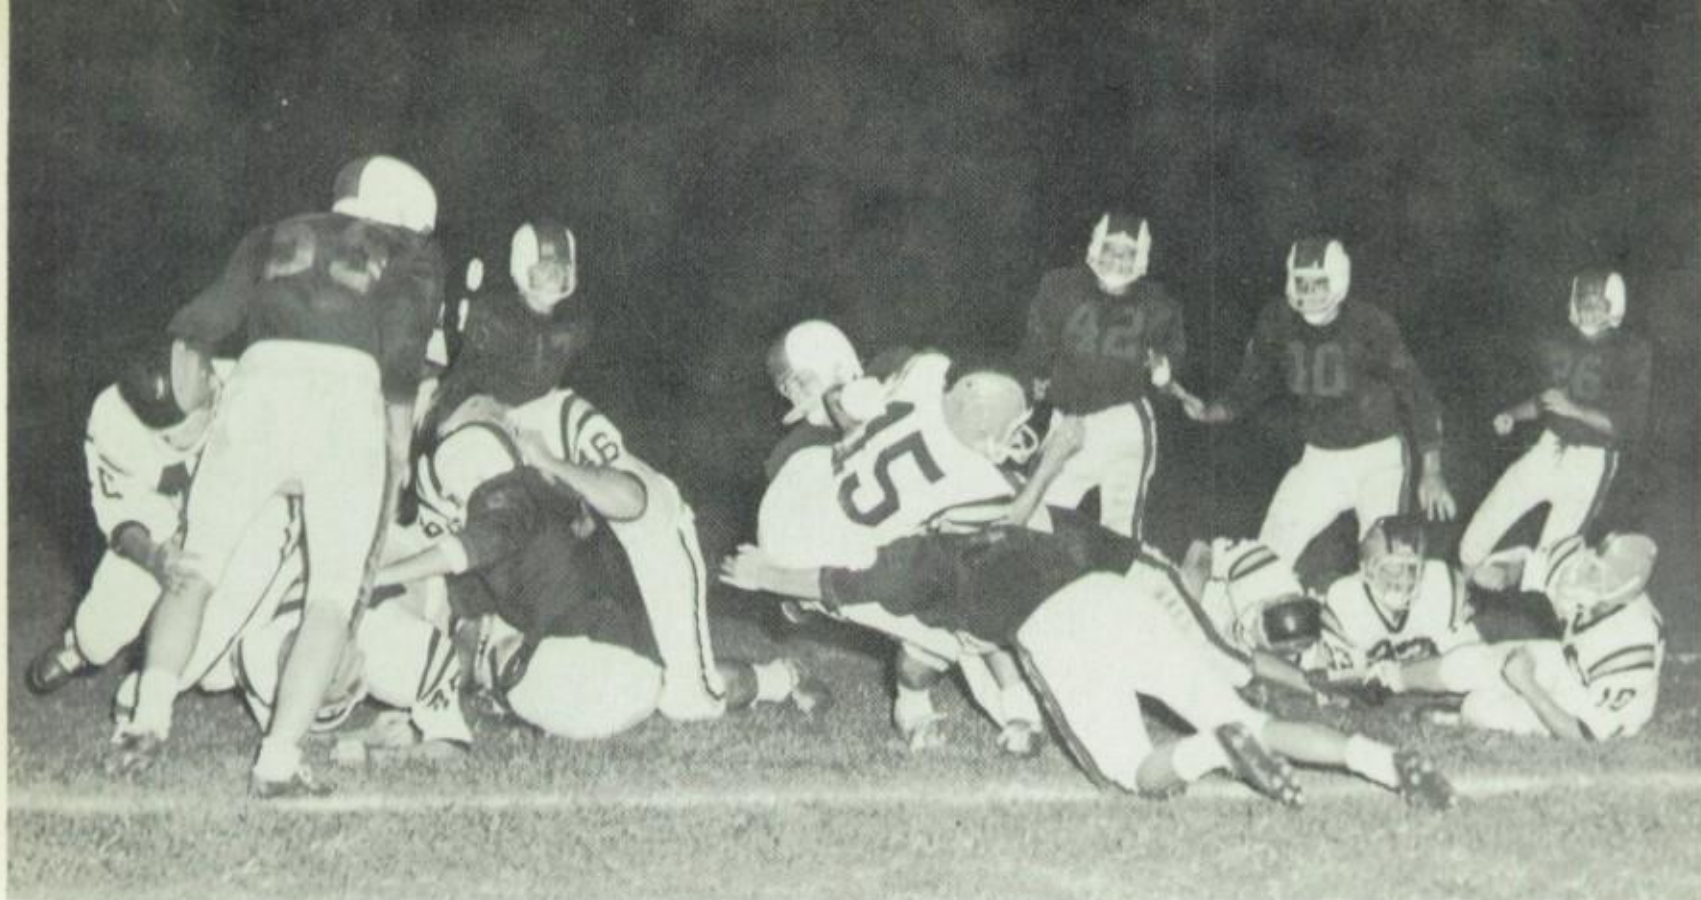

Underclassmen John Arey and Guil Waddell admire senior Jimmy Allison's ring and wistfully anticipate their own Class of '67 rings.

Following Mr. Bostian's announcement, "Forensic Club will meet this afternoon in my room," Miss Stewart dutifully notes the meeting for homeroom announcement.

For thee, Concord High, this prayer we raise . . .

Spirit and tension are high as Mike Swaringen pushes over the goal line to boost the Spiders on to victory.

May grace be ever thine, our spirits to reach . . .

Quite an unusual sight, Mr. Alley, Miss Linn, Miss Motley, and Mr. Rimer "twist and shout" in an all-out effort to promote the band's Florida trip.

In psychology Carolyn Hofler goes beatnik with her bongos to demonstrate her "Learning Experiment" to the class.

our minds to teach with wisdom all divine . . .

Foremost in your memory of '63 at Concord High, you will recall your classroom experiences; for here you matured not only in mind but also through your personality. In the classroom your character was molded with your scholastic achievement, and from among your fellow students, the leaders of Concord High emerged.

You read and studied JULIUS CAESAR, MACBETH, and THE RIME OF THE ANCIENT MARINER . . . toiled through theorems, axioms, and postulates . . . collected bugs, leaves, and flowers . . . experimented with  $H_2CO_3$  and  $NH_4OH$  . . . assembled and disassembled files and correspondences . . . stumbled over the history of North Carolina, the United States, and the World . . . performed acrobatics and tumbles on the trampoline . . . and translated Latin, French, and Spanish exercises.

For five years you studied and learned what Concord High sought to teach you, and, from the classroom, you emerged as an individual.

The student store never loses its popularity. During the noon hour, students purchase snacks to curb their appetite until the 3:10 bell.

To thee, Concord High, This pledge we make;

As Charlie Beamon and Bob Lowrance check out through the "eighth grade office," they report to Beryl Smith that they aren't feeling well.

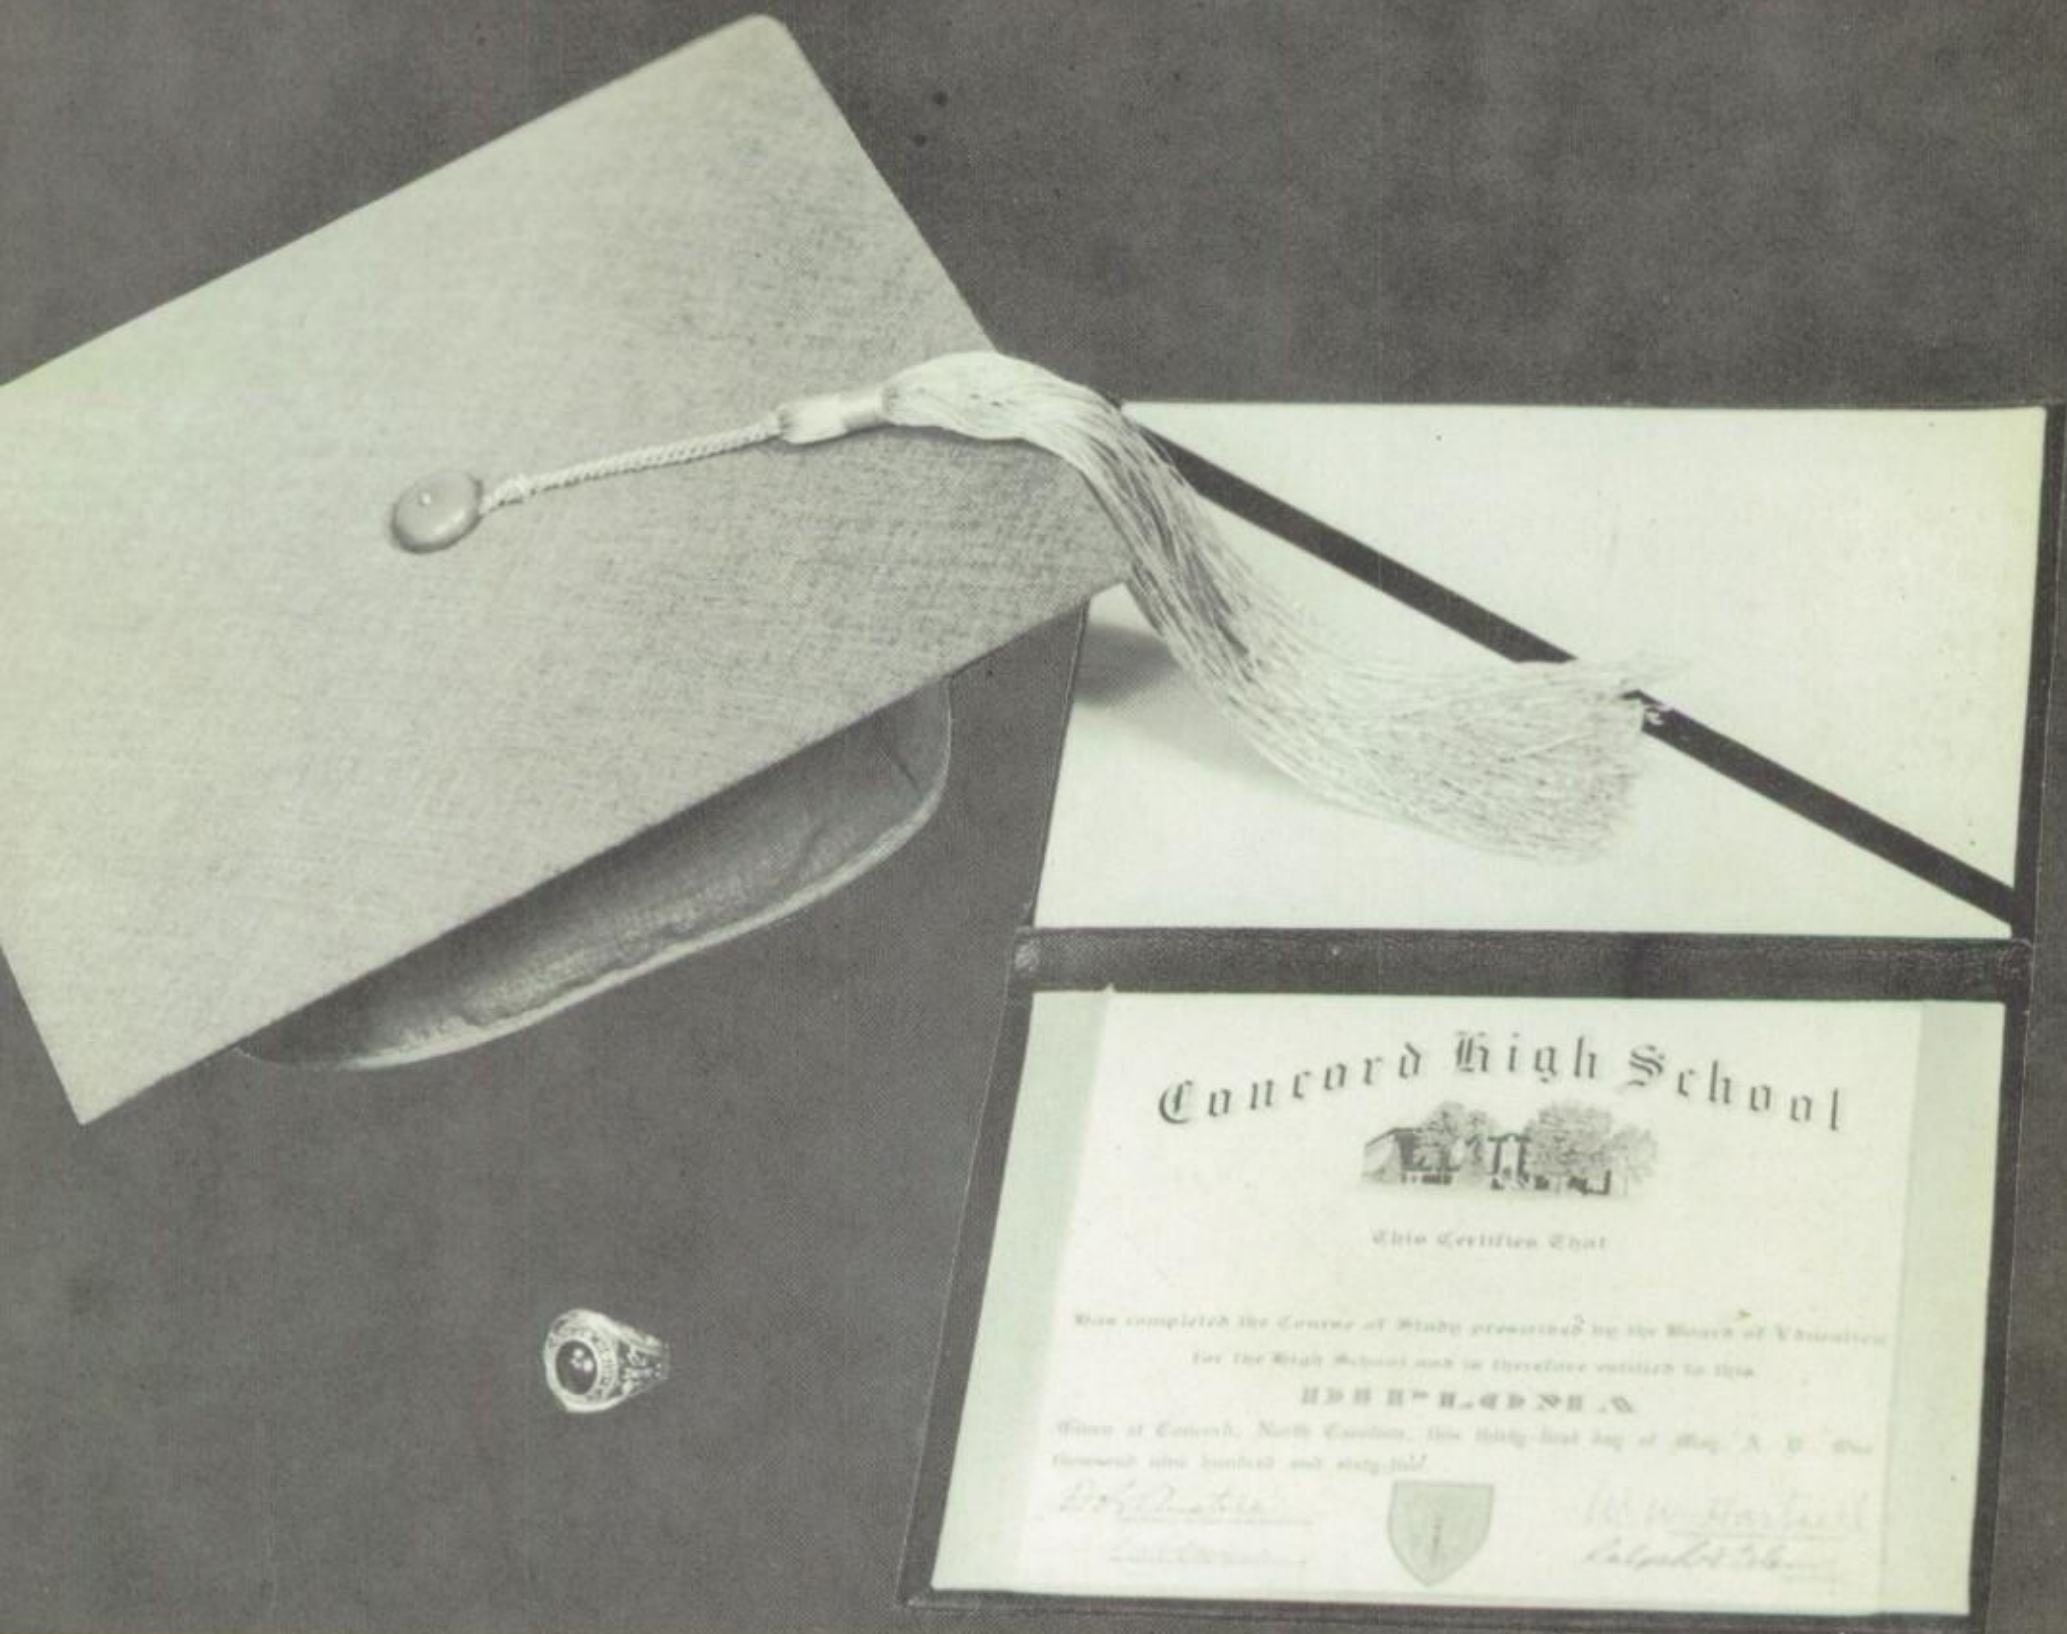

Sophomore Jimmy Hollingsworth buries his thoughts in algebra, biology, and English for a few hours of nightly homework.

Participating in the Distributive Education program, Linda Mullis operates the cash register in a local department store.

To give our best to you,
May our loyalty unswerving be;
Our love each day more true.

D E D I C A T I O N

Mr. Goodman explains to Merley Glover and Frances Batte the procedure the Student Assemblymen are to follow in distributing the madras belts, bands, and scarves.

During class the zoology students observe as Mr. Goodman points out the muscles of a dissected cat.

We, the senior class of 1963, will remember you because . . .

you introduced us into "the science of life" with a force that awakened us to the realization of the world around us . . .

you sponsored and upheld the principles of Concord High through the Student Assembly and Student Council . . .

you gave us your originality and endless hours of work to net three prize winning Christmas floats during our high school years . . .

you inspired in each of us a desire to do our best at everything, whether it be scholastical or social . . .

you showed your interest in our petty wants, and, under your guidance, we learned to live and act as young adults . . .

Because you challenged us to a higher goal, we respect and admire you, and dedicate our 1963 SPIDER WEB to you,
Mr. James C. Goodman.

"Our minds to teach . . ."

Teacher-student was not the only relationship you shared with the '63 faculty, for from them you likewise received understanding, service in sponsoring the student body's extracurricular activities, and encouragement to push ahead in all your endeavors.

Members of the Concord City School Board are, left to right, Mrs. E. M. Tomlin, Mr. D. B. Austell, Mrs. Paul W. Lentz; and standing, Mr. George Brown, Mr. Ray Cline,

Mr. R. W. Gillon, Mr. A. W. Thomas, Jr., and Mr. W. W. Hartsell, Superintendent of the Concord City Schools.

P . T . A . O F F I C E R S

Founded as a means for better understanding the students of Concord High, the Parent-Teacher Association meets regularly to discuss student problems and initiate worthwhile actions to improve the academic program of CHS. The PTA serves as an opportunity for the parent to discuss his child with the individual faculty members who offer suggestions to help improve the student's scholastic achievement.

As Principal Ralph A. Glenn looks on, his secretary, Miss Barbara Alley, checks the daily absentee record of Concord High students.

A D M I N I S T R A T I O N

The welfare of the students and the complete management of Concord High rests on the shoulders of our able principal, Mr. Ralph Glenn. Aside from completing college recommendations, arranging class schedules and organizing the daily activities of Concord High, Mr. Glenn is always ready to take an understanding view into the problems of individual students.

Under the supervision of Mr. Glenn, Miss Barbara Alley serves Concord High as secretary. Revising student files, averaging grades, and handling the correspondence of CHS are only a few of Miss Alley's responsibilities. Being a '60 graduate of Concord High, Miss Alley is familiar with the routine of CHS and has proved to be a valuable asset to the administration of Concord High this year.

T H E   S E N I O R   C L A S S

Having approached the goal toward which we Seniors have worked for twelve years, we are able to look back at our careers at Concord High School, but not without a feeling of nostalgia.

We remember our first days at CHS as struggling seventh and eighth graders—the maze of halls, the strange faces, the new routine. But we overcame these early anxieties in time to enjoy the Raleigh trip, and as Freshmen, we were firmly established. Our sophomore year was highlighted by projects and translations which we smile to recall.

Organized as a class for the first time our junior year, we began having class meetings, electing officers, and planning for the fun-filled days in Florida, which passed all too quickly.

As Seniors, we looked with pride when our classmates received awards or honor society membership. We found that we were the leaders of the school and enjoyed our successes in athletic and extracurricular activities. Our remembrances are many—rings, the balcony, English assignments, college boards, superlatives, Class Day, caps and gowns, the Senior Prom, the Baccalaureate Sermon, and our diplomas.

We have laid the foundation for our future in these important years at Concord High School. We have faced triumph and disappointments. Through our experiences we have become more acquainted with life, and though we shall leave, our memories will be with us.

Beginning in the first weeks of the '62-'63 school year, the '63 SPIDER WEB staff began the difficult task of publishing a yearbook which would include every phase of CHS activity. Composed of fifteen members of the Class of '63, the various staffs have worked diligently selling ads, taking pictures, writing and revising copy, and meeting deadlines.

Under the experienced leadership of Mrs. Frances Alston, the staff has tried to present an accurate and entertaining record of your '63 year at Concord High.

Ed Stewart, business manager, and his staff, Tommy Lyerly, Russell Fisher, and Jesse Pike, are pleased to find that no payment is missing from their ad collections.

Always found behind the camera, Herbert Greene, the '63 SPIDER WEB photographer, never had time to pose for a picture.

Gloria Milewski, music editor, and Mary Lane Dudley, feature editor, seem undisturbed by the antics of sports editors, Sandra Morris and Jimmy Allison.

Section editors for organizations, honor organizations, classes, and seniors in the '63 SPIDER WEB work hard arranging copy and pictures during a third period annual staff meeting.

Copy layout is a very important part of newspaper publication. Editors Kathryn Wilson and Judy Graves discuss a possible WEAVINGS dummy sheet.

In order to keep the CHS student body well informed with the current school news and highlights of student activities, the WEAVINGS staff publishes ten editions yearly. Assisted by Mrs. Christine Caldwell, faculty sponsor, the staff members learn the qualities of good journalism by writing news, feature, or sports articles and editorials. Also, the business staff, typists, and circulation department play an important part in producing "the only newspaper in the world that gives a complete spin about Concord High School."

Some interesting copy seems to have attracted the attention of Mike Brown, Sports Editor, and his staff, Jim Burbank, Edith Craven, and Melvin Bost; while Alice Peninger, assistant to Bill Miller, Circulation Manager, looks on.

Barbara Scuffham instructs her news staff, Ilene Burris, Theresa Wiles, Frances Batte, Carolyn Hofler, Ken Boger, Jim Simpson, Mary Lane Dudley, and Dianne Furr, in the correct procedure to follow in writing a news article.

The Future Homemakers of America brave the cold air to pose for this picture on the front steps. ## FUTURE HOMEMAKERS OF AMERICA

The Future Homemakers of America has served CHS by encouraging good citizenship and organized home management. To achieve its aim, this club has had various projects and contests to improve the members' competence in the care and maintenance of a home. The F.H.A. sold household items to raise funds for their annual Mother-Daughter Banquet. The money left over from this project was used to purchase new equipment for the home economics department.

Without preference to religious creed, the Bible Club was begun at CHS almost ten years ago. With Mrs. Lenna Lefler as faculty advisor, it has enabled its members to have a richer, more meaningful knowledge of God's word. The activities of the Bible Club enable its members to become better leaders in their own church organizations. This club has sponsored some very effective assembly programs which made it possible for the rest of the student body to share in their spiritual enlightenment.

DISTRIBUTIVE EDUCATION

Organized by Mr. Donald Williams, members of the Distributive Education Club receive instruction in good business practices in the classroom and apply this training to their afternoon jobs.

Through the D. E. class the student who does not plan to enter college is able to obtain on-the-job vocational training.

To keep the school running at peak efficiency, girls from the student body render their services one period each day as assistants in the office, library, and sickroom. Their duties include sorting the mail, checking books in and out, and administering first aid. These student-aides prove to lighten the load of the faculty a great deal.

Sandy Wyatt, Robert Taylor, Frank Zerbinos, and Frankie Fleming prepare to go on stage with their act in one of the many Dramatics Club programs.

D R A M A T I C S C L U B

As the largest extra-curricular organization at Concord High School, the Dramatics Club enables students to display their talent by acting on stage, participating on the stage crew, or serving on various production committees. At each meeting, programs, including one act plays and talent shows are presented. Through participation in these bi-weekly club programs, students gain valuable experience in the field of dramatic arts.

Miss Blanche Stewart, faculty advisor for the Pan Players, instructs the stage crew in a daily class, teaching them the management and upkeep required to keep the auditorium in excellent condition.

Public speaking is very important not only in a person's school career, but throughout one's life. The Forensic Club, under the direction of Mr. Barry Bostian, is designed for the promotion of all forms of oratory and also encourages good parlia-

The extemporaneous and impromptu speeches, debates, and student congresses offer good opportunities for members to express themselves freely in almost any field of thought.

Close attention is paid to Frankie Fleming as he speaks to the Forensic Club on their motto, "Training for Leadership"

The Future Teachers of America, affiliated with the National Education Association, worked this year to arouse an interest in teaching as a profession in the students of Concord High School. Many members had the opportunity of substituting for elementary school teachers away on school business. There they learned first hand what teaching is really like. Another important project undertaken by the club is Teacher Appreciation Day. At this time each teacher is recognized for his service to the school by the members of the Future Teachers.

Again this year the Concord High School "Spiders" proved to be great competition for the South Piedmont Conference. To produce a winning team, the "Spiders" combined a strong defense with a versatile offense. At the end of the season the team had a record of seven wins and three losses. The "Spiders" defeated such highly ranked teams as Page High of Greensboro, Statesville, Asheboro, and Thomasville. The most thrilling victory came in the final game of the season when the "Spiders" defeated the Kannapolis "Little Wonders" for the second consecutive year. As the result of this victory, the Victory Bell remained in the halls of C. H. S. for another year.

Well, this isn't the proper way to "tee off," but Mike Brown, Robert Taylor, Harry D'Oyley, and Ed Stewart seem to be having a lot of fun.

G O L F

Led by Coach Jim Blakeney, the '62 golf team went undefeated during the conference season, the only loss coming during the conference tournament in the match with Asheboro. Concord High golfers finished No. 1 in the conference and No. 5 in the Western Carolina district.

VARSITY

Promoting school spirit this year was the responsibility of the varsity cheerleaders. Headed by Libby Beasley, chief cheerleader, these girls, Susan Sherrill, Bobbye Johnsen, Sue Proctor, Jane Hatley, Edith Craven, and Martha Sherrill, led the student body in strong support of C.H.S.'s varsity teams.

JUNIOR VARSITY

Following in the footsteps of the Varsity Cheerleaders, the J. V. Cheerleaders were the strongest supporters of the J. V. teams. Headed by chief, Becky Beasley, the cheerleaders, Anita Ballard, Martha Winecoff, Vicki Johnsen, Terry Russell, Liz Aberle, and Winslow Cannon, worked together in supplying spirit and support to the J. V. teams at their games and pep rallies.

CONCORD HIGH SCHOOL BAND MARCHES

Much practice, hard work, sweat, and late hours went into making 1963 a tremendous year for Concord High School's senior band.

Early in August the band began holding afternoon and evening rehearsals. While the Lettergirls and Majorettes worked hard at new routines, the one hundred piece marching unit shaped itself into a snappy precision band. All the hard work was justified, however, in the perfection of precision drills and marching routines for the football season. The band climaxed an active marching season with a presentation of Halftime Highlights, at which time it was announced that the Marching Spiders had received an invitation to participate in the Orange Bowl festivities over New Year's in Miami, Florida.

In December the CHS band marched in the Concord and Kannapolis Christmas parades, presented a concert to the student body, and journeyed to the Shrine Bowl in Charlotte.

During the week of December 28-January 2 the CHS precision unit participated in the Orange Bowl parade in Miami, Florida. Not only did these musicians represent Concord High School, but the state of North Carolina as well.

Under the direction of Mr. Robert Ingram, the concert band attended the high school music contest in Greensboro in April, and there they received a high rating among the North Carolina concert bands.

An eventful and memorable year was brought to an end when the concert band gave a spring concert and created the musical atmosphere for Class Day.

Band Members: John Ezzell, Russell Fisher, Frank Fleming, Ronald Leigh, Betsy Harris, Danny Suther, John Cheek, Ronnie Carpenter, Noel Matherne, Brenda Morgan, Linda Morgan, Jesse Pike, Karen Williams, Mike Cooke, Mike Eudy, Phillip Walters, Mack Barnhardt, Frank Mowrer, M. O. Harris, Jackie Fugarino, Mike Joyner, Edward Haigh, Eddie Baggs, Ralph Smith, Marty Bell, Brenda Pinion, Frances Sehorn, Vicki Santis, Wilma Jackson, Smitty Smith, Vincent Nash, Danny Coltrane, Bill Patterson, Elizabeth Whitecar, Elizabeth Kirby, Alice Collins, Becky Waddell, John Garner, Fred Cato, James Laxton, Beaver Turner, Phyllis Galloway, Joy Duncan, Billy Widenhouse, Phil Blackwelder, Dickie

Mr. Luther Gillon, assistant director, has been a valuable asset to the band and music department in the two years he has been at Concord High.

J U N I O R B A N D

The syncopaters of the underclassmen compose the Junior Band, which has met daily under the leadership of Mr. Luther Gillon. Spending much time preparing for the Christmas parades and the spring concert, the members have made great strides in their work over the year. Under the leadership of Drum Major Guil Waddell, the Junior Band reached new heights. A small group of members formed a pep band, which added much spirit and zest to the J.V. games.

M I X E D   C H O R U S

Under the capable direction of Mr. Sammy Choate, the Concord High School Mixed Chorus has become a vital part of the school's curriculum. This musical organization provides a chance for students to learn an artistic skill with its attendant discipline of co-ordination, mental alertness, and mechanical proficiency. The chorus works to achieve this skill by sight reading a large amount of difficult music and studying the basic principles of music theory.

Another aim of this organization is to bring students, through music, the values of dedication, diligence and sensitivity, an appreciation of beauty, and an awareness of the intangibles of life.

Although probably the least important of its musical goals, the chorus also seeks to bring to other people the enjoyment of music. To do this, the choir sang for various church organizations and for the student body. Through these events, the chorus has achieved the purposes for which the organization exists.

Filled with donuts and pancakes, the CHS Marching Spiders departed for the "Land of Sunshine" on December 28 . . .

EXCHANGE STUDENT

Judy Graves

During the summer of 1962, Judy Graves served as an American Field Service exchange student in Gouda, Holland. Living with Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Leeuwenburgh and daughter, Zettie, Judy adapted herself well to the new language and Dutch customs, finding a special interest in Dutch folk dance. In July Judy and Zettie took an active part in the annual Netherland Folk Dance Festival held in Gouda. The Leeuwenburghs made Judy's overseas stay more complete by taking a two week camping trip through Belgium in August.

Upon her return to America, Judy found her Forensic experience and WEAVINGS staff training invaluable in preparing various speeches and articles about her European summer.

As Concord High's second summer exchange student, Judy will long remember her European summer, and Concord High will long remember Judy for the part she played in the AFS "Americans Abroad" program.

EXCHANGE STUDENT

Matti Vuorio

Bringing good will from Finland to Concord this year was the merry-eyed Matti Vuorio. Matti, who came to America under the American Field Service Exchange Program, made his home with Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Schramm and son, Bill.

His likeable ways earned him the position of secretary-treasurer in his senior home-room and a Student Assembly post. He became a member of both the Dramatics and Bible Clubs and his leadership qualities gained him recognition as an honorary member of Key Club International.

Matti added much to Concord High in 1963. Not only in the classroom but also through his participation in church and social activities, Matti did much to warm the hearts of every CHS student during his senior year at Concord High.

Matti and Bill contemplate their next moves in the international game of chess.

ACHIEVEMENTS AND AWARDS

Because of their outstanding character and athletic abilities these students have been recognized through various honor and achievement awards.

Awed with the enchantment of an old southern mansion entwined with ivy, the Spiders presented their "southern belles" to the student body for the 1962 Sponsor's Day program. Each "belle" was presented on the porch of the old plantation home by two doormen, after which followed the crowning of "Miss Gridiron," Vickie Lowder, the Spiders' first choice of the loveliest "southern belle." Vickie reigned as "Miss Gridiron" with her sponsor's court throughout the Sponsor's Day activities of the afternoon and evening.

Under the direction of the Student Assembly's activities committee, "Southern Splendor" presented C.H.S. with a memorable homecoming for the 1962 gridiron season.

STUDENTS NOMINATE AND ELECT MISS SPIDER

Annually the students of Concord High elect representatives from grades eight through twelve to reign as the "Miss Spider Web" court. The selection of the court is by nomination and election of one member from each class through a class vote, with the selection of "Miss Spider Web" coming from the senior class and carrying the majority of votes from the entire student body. An attractive feature, the 1963 "Spider Web" now presents "Miss Spider Web" and her court to you.

"MISS MERRY CHRISTMAS"

Once again the CHS float copied first place award in the annual Concord Christmas parade. With the theme of "Christmas Express," hours of conscientious work went into the assembling of this prize winner.

"CHRISTMAS EXPRESS"

Reigning over the Yuletide season as Concord High's "Miss Merry Christmas" was senior, Jeslyn Austell. Selected by the CHS student body for her beauty and musical talent, Jeslyn easily captured second place in the "Miss Merry Christmas" contest held in Kannapolis for the surrounding area.

Keeping a close watch on our "Miss Merry Christmas" in the Concord and Kannapolis parades, the teddy-bear engineer of CHS's float, "Christmas Express," thrilled Concord High by winning first place in the Concord parade and placing second in the K-town competition with his Express. Designed and assembled by the Activities Committee of the Student Assembly, "Christmas Express" featured a train of toys for good girls and boys and sported a black and gold engine and bright red caboose.

I will always remember you and your sweet ways. Stay the way you are and I am sure your life will be a great success. I have enjoyed listening to you telling me about your boyfriends you dated over the week end. Remember the fun we had on the back row in chorus. Always remember me. As you go one way and I'll go the other, I hope our friendship will never end. Lots of luck in the future because you deserve the best. May God Bless you always.

I hope we can still be friends and still go skating, riding, and other places together. I hope to see you around again next year. Don't forget now - keep those wheels rolling at Jugs and I'll do the same. Me, you, and Linda have sure had a good time this year so lets keep it that way. I wish you the best of luck to you in the future years wherever you are and with all the boys and "Lairg". I'm sorry about taking Jim away from you ~~SHIT~~ but some things just can't be helped. You know something I really do love him and can't blame you for wanting to put up a fight over him. <sup>S.H.I.T</sup> He's a swell guy and I hope to keep him always.
